

Game changer

This article reflects the status at the time of its publication. The content may since have become outdated.

19/05/2018 Mark Webber test drives the new Mission E for the first time on Porsche's test track at Weissach. Here are his impressions.

I've got many Porsche moments that will stay with me forever – winning the WEC in the 919 Hybrid would be one – and I think I've just experienced another: driving the Mission E for the first time.

It's a game changer, this car. Quite literally, it is stealth in motion.

Still clearly a Porsche, it actually kept reminding me of the 919, as there were times were we could drive our Le Mans racer on E-Motor alone.

The gorgeous view from inside the cockpit over the front wheel arches is pure 918 and the way the four-wheel drive system puts its 600 hp down simply sensational.

I'm a bit of an old-school kind of guy and I love nothing more than to drive so I don't mind admitting I had some reservations. I thought that the Mission E could feel a little heavy but the driving experience is seriously dynamic: the four-wheel steering, the performance and the braking ability were a really amazing experience.

I've driven lots of cars over the years that I've fallen for but the Mission E really stands out. I'm looking forward to driving it a lot more in the future.

Link Collection

Link to this article
https://newsroom.porsche.com/en/products/porsche-mission-e-mark-webber-game-changer-test-drive-weissach-track-15497.html

Media Package
https://pmdb.porsche.de/newsroomzips/f64c7653-6317-4209-bae3-1317d317c4ab.zip

Dr. Ing. h.c. F. Porsche Aktiengesellschaft
Porscheplatz 1
70435 Stuttgart