Porsche Carrera Cup Deutschland, Race 11, Zandvoort/The Netherlands

Victory number nine: Sven Müller conquers the Dutch dune circuit

Stuttgart. In the Dutch coastal resort town of Zandvoort, Porsche Junior Sven Müller extends his championship lead after pocketing his ninth win of the Porsche Carrera Cup Deutschland. At the wheel of his 460 hp Porsche 911 GR3 Cup run by Konrad Motorsport, the 24-year-old won the eleventh race of the German one-make race series. With a gap of 0.2 seconds, the German relegated Jeffrey Schmidt (Team Lechner Huber Racing) from Switzerland to second. Christian Engelhart (D/MRS GT-Racing) occupied the third podium spot after Saturday's race. "In European nine-pin bowling we call this a strike. I've won nine of eleven races. The finish today was rather confusing because as I drove over the finish line the organiser forgot to wave the chequered flag. I'm very happy about my first ever win at Zandvoort," said Müller.

In the 9am qualifying session, Schmidt posted pole position on 4.307-kilometre dune circuit. Müller got a better jump off the line and pulled next to Schmidt. As the pair turned into the first corner, Müller was a nose ahead. Although the German held on to his lead over the 14 laps, Schmidt kept his rival under pressure and managed to close the gap to the frontrunner to 0.7 seconds. By the end of the race the Swiss had almost caught the German, but with the absence of the chequered flag, the pair raced on to the next corner. Via radio, the Steward of the Meeting then clarified the misunderstanding and announced the end of the race: "When you start from pole you want to win. Unfortunately I didn't manage it today because my start wasn't great. At the end it was a little chaotic because we didn't see the flag. I need to get off the line better on Sunday then perhaps I can win," said Schmidt.

Scoring position three, Engelhart earned vital points towards the championship. “The most exciting part was the lap after the final lap. Everyone was overtaking because no one really knew if the race was still on or not. Such a situation is very rare,” explained Engelhart. Porsche junior Dennis Olsen (N/Team Lechner Huber Racing) finished fourth behind Engelhart: “My start wasn’t good at all and unfortunately I couldn’t make up any positions. I managed to stay with Engelhart early on but my driving took a toll on the tyres and ultimately I wasn’t able to maintain the pace.” Fifth place went to Britain’s Nicholas Yelloly (Rookie Team Deutsche Post by Project 1) with the Australian Nick Foster (AUS/KÜS Team75 Bernhard) concluding the race in sixth.

After eleven of 16 races, Müller leads the overall championship after nine victories with 201 points. Ranking second is Engelhart with 181 points. Olsen sits third with 168 points, which makes him the best rookie in the field. Wolfgang Triller (D/Team Huber Lechner Racing) leads the B-category for amateur race drivers with 212 points. Thanks to the good results of Müller and his Austrian teammate Luca Rettenbacher, Konrad Motorsport ranks first in the team classification.

The two YouTubers from the “DailyMandT” channel travelled to the race in Zandvoort to report on their experiences at the racetrack via a video-journal. The next Porsche Carrera Cup Deutschland race in Zandvoort takes off on Sunday at 8.25 hours.
