Porsche Motorsport tests in Spain

Video material and images of the Formula E car at the racetrack

Calafat. Following the successful roll-out of the Porsche Formula E car at the test facility in Weissach at the start of March, the project is now taking its next step, testing at the Calafat racetrack in Spain, where preparations for the coming season in the ABB FIA Formula E Championship enter their next phase. The latest images and video material are already available. More information on the tests will follow this evening, at the end of the test programme.
