

Latest 911 GT3 now available to drive at the Porsche Experience Centers in Atlanta and Los Angeles

05/01/2022 Programs showcase the top-performing model of the seventh-generation 911

Atlanta, Ga.A new thrill awaits customers of the Porsche Experience Centers in Atlanta and Los Angeles: The new 911 GT3, among the most exciting and rewarding cars Porsche makes, has joined the fleet available for customers at both driver development courses. The road car is designed to fulfill every driving enthusiast's wish, with a high-revving, naturally aspirated engine that is virtually identical to the track-only 911 GT3 Cup race car. Now everyone – not just Porsche owners – can experience this latest evolution of a Porsche GT car on purpose-built tracks with an individual Porsche Drive Coach.

"Like all Porsche sports cars, the new 911 GT3 is meant to be driven – and this one even more so, since it was born from motorsports and tailored to the road," said Kjell Gruner, President and CEO of PCNA. "The feel, the sound and the dynamics make for a very special experience that anyone can enjoy on the closed track with personal instruction. I'm sure the new GT programs will bring an extra level of excitement to our centers in Atlanta and Los Angeles."

Experience Center customers will drive on a variety of track modules, some designed to simulate everyday driving conditions and others to provide more challenging environments.

In Atlanta, the PEC is offering the following driving experiences:

- 90-minute 911 GT3
- 90-minute 911 GT3 vs. 911 Turbo
- 90-minute 911 GT3 Generations (991 v. 992; available during the 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. sessions until March 31).

In Los Angeles, the PEC is offering the following driving experiences:

- 90-minute 911 GT3
- 90-minute 911 GT3 vs. 911 Turbo
- 4-hour 911 GT3 Accelerated
- 90-minute 911 GT3 Generations (991 v. 992; available until March 31).
- 4-hour 911 GT3 Generations Accelerated (available until March 31).

Detailed information on each program in Atlanta can be viewed here and LA's programs are available here.
