25/09/2026 In the strategy field “Transparency and Communication” the company works continuously on further improving responsible governance.

A transparent and responsible corporate governance fosters trust and forms an important foundation for sustainability as well as for Porsche's business activities. In the strategy field “Transparency and Communication” the company works continuously on further improving responsible governance. The goal is to measure and manage concrete ESG performance based on data.

The sports car manufacturer pursues a transparency-driven approach and discloses a reliable set of sustainability information and indicators as part of its annual business and sustainability reporting. Porsche also places great value on open, eye-level dialogue with its stakeholders and views the exchange of information as an important instrument and source of inspiration for continuously improving sustainability management.
