

Porsche Centre Mauritius hosts its first electric discovery day

24/03/2025 Porsche Centre Mauritius hosts its first electric discovery day at Avalon Golf Estate, where guests experienced the thrill of driving the fully electric Taycan and new Macan ushering in a new era of performance, innovation, and electric luxury.

Mauritius | Porsche Centre Mauritius hosts its first electric discovery day at Avalon Golf Estate on March 22, inviting guests to experience the future of mobility through an electrifying showcase of Porsche's fully electric models, the Taycan and the new Macan.

The event was crafted as a relaxed yet immersive experience, combining the serene setting of Avalon with cutting-edge automotive innovation. Guests were welcomed with a curated brunch experience, allowing them to connect with Porsche experts and fellow enthusiasts before getting behind the wheel.

The highlight of the day was undoubtedly the test drive sessions, where participants were encouraged to compare the BEV lineup with Porsche's internal combustion engine (ICE) counterparts, sparking curiosity, insights, and meaningful conversations around the brand's electric future.

In addition, a ABC Banking Corporation Ltd was present to present attractive financing options and discuss the practical benefits of going electric, from lower operating costs to government incentives.
