

One in a Million

This article reflects the status at the time of its publication. The content may since have become outdated.

24/10/2017 Although produced millions of times, these items are unique: photographer Henry Leutwyler documents everyday objects that have become something special because they've been used to accomplish something special.

The mundane paintbrush, for example, with which Andy Warhol created world-famous works of art. Or Jimi Hendrix's electric guitar. Or the pencil that Ferdinand Alexander Porsche used to make the first sketches of the Porsche 911.
