

Industrialized Construction

11/06/2025 The blueprint to disrupt and transform the construction industry.

The construction industry is at a crossroads. Despite its global economic significance, it struggles with declining productivity, labor shortages, and mounting environmental pressures. Industrialized Construction offers a transformative solution – combining productization, design for manufacture and assembly (DfMA), and prefabrication to deliver faster, greener, and more cost-efficient buildings.

This strategy paper outlines how Industrialized Construction can reshape the value chain, unlock efficiency, and meet the urgent demand for sustainable housing and infrastructure worldwide.
