

Porsche celebrates nine championship titles at the finale

13/10/2024 Porsche left its lasting mark on the 2024 IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Championship season at the season finale at Road Atlanta. The sports car manufacturer from Stuttgart won a total of nine titles on Saturday (October 12th) at the so-called Petit Le Mans.

At the wheel of the Porsche 963 with starting number 7, Felipe Nasr from Brazil and Dane Cameron from the USA secured the drivers' title ahead of their brand colleagues Nick Tandy (Great Britain) and Mathieu Jaminet (France). The Porsche Penske Motorsport works team won the team championship and Porsche triumphed in the manufacturers' championship.

The two Porsche 963 from the works team finshed the ten-hour race at Road Atlanta in positions two and three. In the GTD Pro class, the Porsche 911 GT3 R from AO Racing with drivers Laurin Heinrich from Germany, Julien Andlauer from France and Michael Christensen from Denmark achieved eleventh place. This was enough to win the manufacturers' championship in the top GT category. The former Porsche Junior Heinrich crowned his debut season in the IMSA championship with victory in the GTD Pro drivers' championship.
