

Unique specimen under the hammer: 911 Classic Club Coupe sold for record price

This article reflects the status at the time of its publication. The content may since have become outdated.

12/06/2023 For 1.2 million US-Dollar, a Porsche enthusiast secured the unique vehicle that Porsche Classic built for the Porsche Club of America (PCA). Over two and a half years, the classic car experts painstakingly restored the Porsche 911 Classic Club Coupe from a used 911 Carrera (Type 996) built in 1998. In the spirit of the Porsche “Sonderwunsch” programme, the sports car was also extensively customised.

The auction took place as part of the 75th anniversary celebration of Porsche Cars North America at the Porsche Experience Center Atlanta, USA. A total of 75 Porsche rarities were on offer at the Broad Arrow auction house during the event. Among the collectibles offered by private owners were a 904 Carrera GTS from 1964, a 962 from 1984 and a 911 SC “Safari” Rally from 1980.

One source of inspiration for the vehicle project was the 911 Sport Classic (997) launched in 2009. This special model, limited to 250 units, was not sold in the United States. Other features incorporated in the vehicle during its restoration came from the new 911 Sport Classic (992), which was still under wraps at the time, and included the Sport Gray Metallic exterior and the seat centre panels, which combine borrowings from both vehicles (braided leather in Pepita houndstooth look). With this one-off, Porsche Classic and the PCA achieved a similarly exciting vehicle concept and took it to the USA. At the same time, the model showed just what is possible as part of the new Porsche Classic “Sonderwunsch” programme.

Exterior highlights of the 911 Classic Club Coupe

The special features of the Porsche 911 Classic Club Coupe include its Sport Grey Metallic paintwork with light grey and blue accents, double-dome roof, Fuchs rims and the fixed rear spoiler in the ducktail style of the 911 Carrera RS 2.7 from 1972. Many of the exterior and interior details are customised with PCA’s signature Club Blue. The centre panels of the sports seats, like the door panels, are made of intricate woven leather in a Pepita houndstooth pattern.

The vehicle has been technically – and to some extent visually – transformed, with the powertrain of the second-generation 996 GT3 enabling it to get 280 kW (381 PS) out of a 3.6 litre engine. The chassis and brakes also come from the GT3.

MEDIA ENQUIRIES

Nadine Toberer

Spokesperson Design, Lifestyle and Brand Communications +49 (0) 170 / 911 0944
nadine.toberer@porsche.de

Video

https://newstv.porsche.com/porschevideos/204872_en_3000000.mp4

Link Collection

Link to this article
https://newsroom.porsche.com/en/2023/history/porsche-classic-911-classic-club-coupe-porsche-club-of-america-auction-32734.html

Media Package
https://pmdb.porsche.de/newsroomzips/fd69ad0b-6c97-4dca-bba3-0fa586457417.zip

External Links
https://www.porsche.com/international/accessoriesandservice/classic/
https://www.pca.org/

Dr. Ing. h.c. F. Porsche Aktiengesellschaft
Porscheplatz 1
70435 Stuttgart