The new 911 likes to show off its best side. A firsthand look at the new Porsche 911.

For generations, the rear end has been a stunner—beguiling, unmistakable, a statement: the perfect embodiment of power and passion. And the mood beneath the elegant rear decklid cover packs a positive punch as well.

The 911 is tensed and ready, like the elite athlete that it is. It adeptly masters potent performance and dynamic aura. It's ever-attuned to the road ahead—always seeking the next corner, the next straightaway. And it always holds its line with stubborn resolve.

With its broad stance, it withstands pressure with ease. The air guide lays down the line, even under the shell, ensuring the turbo boxer can always breathe deeply. Make way for the 911 Carrera! It's ready for action like never before.
